Patrol Recruit Training In Final Week

JACKSON (Speci)—Thirty-three young Mississippians have entered the final week of extensive training here at the Highway Patrol Training School. Those who satisfactorily complete the school will be eligible for employment by the state as Patrolmen.

Representing practically every section of Mississippi, the Patrol "recruits" undergo an exhaustive classroom work, military close order drill, and discipline unparalleled anywhere, except perhaps in the French Foreign Legion.

The training is comprehensive and tough, prescribed personally by Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong.

Their day begins at 5:30 a.m. sharp. They must fall out immediately for calisthenics; after calisthenics, they have a few minutes in which to shave and prepare for breakfast. All their meals are eaten in a small grill from their barracks.

They march to breakfast at 6:15, to lunch at 12:15 and to supper at 5:15. Everywhere they go, they march in close military formation.

Before classes begin at 3 a.m., the men must police their barracks, the outside area, the temporary school headquarters office and the nearby classroom where they spend most of each day.

Recruits are not permitted to go into Jackson or leave the immediate area of their barracks. Even adjacent barracks in the Mississippi Military District where the school is being held are off limits to the Patrol recruits.

All instructors and visitors to the school are addressed as "Sir" and "Mr. So-and-so."

But no one seems to mind the strict military discipline, the rigorous physical training, or the hour after hour classroom work. All are veterans, Army, Navy or Marines. Most have attended college on the GI-Bill and even the classroom is not unfamiliar.

Out of 36 men who began the school, only three have dropped out and these left because of pressing matters at home.

Each man must keep careful notes on material studied in the classes; periodic tests and examinations are given; notebooks are snap-checked by school officials to see that the men are keeping their notes up to date.

The Patrol recruits receive instructions in court room procedure, accident investigation, traffic supervision, use of firearms and legal jurisdiction of Highway Patrolmen. They must, practically memorize Mississippi's "Rules of the Road" and throughout the school, the recruits are phazed repeatedly.

WAVELAND

WANDERINGS

by
GEORGETTE B. HALL

Waveland had its share of birthday parties this week. Among those who celebrated this happy event were Miss Joan Villere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Villere; Miss Carolyn Morreale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Morreale; Miss Louise Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lynch; and T. H. Brockman.

Young Joan Villere celebrated her birthday Monday, Nov. 7, with a party at her home on Sears Ave. About thirty guests were present to extend Joan best wishes. Delicious refreshments were served and the young people enjoyed various games.

Miss Carolyn Morreale celebrated her 15th birthday Nov. 2 with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Morreale. Refreshments were served, games were played and dancing was enjoyed.

Those present were:

H. V. Jackson of El Paso, Tex., Lee Lohman, Harold Bordages, Caroline Maurigi, Ronnie Maurigi, John Perkins, Pearl Femicar, Patsy Morreale, Gayle Parker, Theima La Fontaine, Gloria Wheat, Pedro Noto, Lawrence Boo Noto, Raymond Bing, Larry Peterson, Henry Noto, Arthemese Noto, Helen Saucier.

Sallie Yarborough, Frank Noto Jr., Claire Carr, Janet Miller, Ronnie Bourgeois, Barbara Ann, Kay Frances and Anthony Morreale, Mrs. Claude Yarborough and sons Gary and Claude Jr., Mrs. A. W. McKay and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Daurio.

The third of the parties for young ladies during the week was in honor of Martha Louise Lynch, who happily celebrated Nov. 7 her sixth birthday at the home of her parents on Coleman Ave. About 16 of the small fry of Waveland were on hand to play "Pin the Tail on the Donkey," win prizes, and enjoy the birthday cake and other refreshments.

A small family party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brockman Sr. marked the celebration of Mr. Brockman's birthday Tuesday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brockman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ott Brockman and daughters Peggy Ann and Christine, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall and daughter, Lynne and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brockman Sr.

This column wishes all of these folks many happy returns and hopes that they will have many more birthdays to share with their families and friends.

Watch for the dates! Sunday, November 13 and Sunday, November 20 will be the days on which the American Legion will sponsor a shooting match in order to raise funds to buy Christmas presents for the children of Hancock County.

Matches will be held at Scafield's on Highway 90.

Guests of Mrs. Hamilton Guegard Sr. this week are Mrs. Alice Guegard and Mrs. Josie Easton of New Orleans who will spend a few weeks in Waveland.

The Teen Age Halloween Dance of last week was sponsored by the Waveland Youth Center and not by the Parents Club of the school as was stated here last week. We'd like to correct this error and give credit where it is due.

Incidentally, a drive is currently on to raise funds for the construction of a permanent Youth Center in Waveland. When you are asked to contribute, it is hoped that all will do so generously, as the youth of the community need guidance and planned recreation.

A week or two ago this column thanked Mrs. R. W. Noonan and R. C. Reynolds for the splendid job they did in chaperoning the teenagers when the group attended the Stanislaus Homecoming game. We have since learned that special credit also goes to some other folks who gave their time and attention to the children that afternoon.

Thanks is also extended, therefore, to Mrs. Wallace Bourgeois, Mrs. Paul Henley and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lader. In discussing this nice gesture—the taking of Waveland's group to the game—we also discovered that the Youth Center did not sponsor the trip, but that it was the personal generosity of Mr. Reynolds who made the whole thing possible and this column would like to thank him.

It is only through citizens like this that we can accomplish some good for our youth.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Villere and daughters, Barbara Ann and Joan, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tucker attended the wedding this week of Miss Theresa Piazza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Comiskey of New Orleans. The wedding was solemnized in New Orleans at the Sacred Heart Church and following the ceremony a reception was held at the Moose Club.

Miss Frances Brenske, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Dufour, is home again after spending several months in California as a guest of her Grandparents. Frances enrolled again as a student at St. Joseph's Academy.

Mrs. Alex Pritchard and Mrs. Bessie Todd of Moss Point, nieces of Mrs. Roger Bordages, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bordages.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to Mrs. Mel Villere, who is in Memorial Hospital in Gulfport this week undergoing surgery.

Young Ronnie Favre is back at school again after being hospitalized with a severe attack of asthma.

Mr. Bill Erdman is in New Orleans visiting his father who is hospitalized.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Giordano and children were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Villere. Mr. Giordano's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Giordano, were also over for part of the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Chasson and sons spent the week-end at their home in Waveland. The Chassons' new infant son enjoyed his first visit to the "country."

Build Fire Lanes
With the great amount of frost on most Mississippi pastures, fire prevention in extra important this year.

This frosty grass, along with field stacked hay, will be valuable to you as winter feed. If fire gets into it and destroys it, then you have had a large loss.

It is especially important to build fire lanes between your pastures and public roads, and between woods and your pastures. Then you can take it a step further, and cut a lane around all hay stacked in pastures and also around storage houses and barns located in fields.

Make your fire lanes 10 to 12 feet wide so that fire won't jump them during a high wind.

Poultry
Management in the poultry house will really pay off right now. Adequate ventilation, just enough and not too much is a prime necessity. More colds in poultry houses result from not enough ventilation, which causes damp floors and walls, than result from too much air.

Birds need a balanced feed ration. They need close observation. Producers should keep a close check on production—when it begins to fall, do something about it before it is too late.

Lights in the poultry house will pay off. A 14-hour light day will help egg production. The light will act as a stimulus on certain glands in the hen and result in a higher seasonal egg production.

Culling is vital. But poultry men should take care and not cull too closely right now. With the price of eggs still high, it would be a mistake to cull out all the old birds to make room for pullets.

Keep old hens that are still in following the ceremony a reception was held at the Moose Club.

Mrs. Frances Brenske, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Dufour, is home again after spending several months in California as a guest of her Grandparents. Frances enrolled again as a student at St. Joseph's Academy.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to Mrs. Mel Villere, who is in Memorial Hospital in Gulfport this week undergoing surgery.

Young Ronnie Favre is back at school again after being hospitalized with a severe attack of asthma.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Giordano and children were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Villere. Mr. Giordano's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Giordano, were also over for part of the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Chasson and sons spent the week-end at their home in Waveland. The Chassons' new infant son enjoyed his first visit to the "country."

With the great amount of frost on most Mississippi pastures, fire prevention in extra important this year.

This frosty grass, along with field stacked hay, will be valuable to you as winter feed. If fire gets into it and destroys it, then you have had a large loss.

It is especially important to build fire lanes between your pastures and public roads, and between woods and your pastures. Then you can take it a step further, and cut a lane around all hay stacked in pastures and also around storage houses and barns located in fields.

The invitation to address the gathering on the theme "Whom Does the Future Belong?" was extended to the priest by the Rev. Bishop John J. O'Connor of Worcester.

CHAMBERS IS CRUSADE FOR FREEDOM HEAD

Frank Chambers of Jackson, Department Adjutant of the American Legion, has been appointed State Chairman of the Crusade for Freedom in Mississippi. It was announced by W. W. Runyon, Regional Director of Crusade for Freedom, Inc.

The Crusade for Freedom is a nationwide movement to enlist the support of the American people in the struggle against Communist tyranny and aggression. It does this by the support of Radio Free Europe and Free Europe Press. The newspapers are delivered over and behind the Iron Curtain by the Balloon operation. By pouring truth through and over the Iron Curtain, these two media give captive people the knowledge and courage to resist their Communist leaders.

Chambers has been Department Adjutant of the American Legion in Mississippi since his return from military service in 1947 and has worked in the crusade for the last two years. Prior to WW II, he attended Mississippi State College where he was active in athletics.

In accepting the appointment, Chambers stated, "The need to support the Crusade for Freedom is more important than ever. There are four reasons for this: the Iron Curtain still exists, freedom of satellite countries is essential for peace, the freedom of satellite countries is essential to our national security, and despite their smiling faces, the Communist goals still remain unchanged."

Chambers also indicated that the main effort on the Crusade for Freedom in Mississippi will be made during the month of February, 1956.

FORESTRY NOTES
By MARION PARKER
Area Forester

Among Mississippi's natural resources, forest is a close second to crop and pasture land as the primary source of income. Forests occupy more than half of all the land in the State. No resident of the State is unaffected by the many benefits which flow from the forest.

St. Stanislaus

The St. Stanislaus Tiny Rocks entertained last Friday for Birmingham All Stars in the Toy Bowl game. They arrived at 7:55 Saturday morning, were served breakfast by the Toy Bowl committee, and then went to the Toy Bowl for a workout.

After lunch, they were treated to a movie by the Toy Bowl committee. Sunday they attended Mass by His Excellency Archbishop T. J. Toolen, and then were given a sight-seeing trip of Birmingham. This was the third meeting of the teams from St. Stanislaus and the Toy Bowlers of Birmingham—in 1946, Birmingham won 27-6, and in 1948, Stanislaus won 32-20. Sunday the Tiny Rocks lost 27-14. Sunday night, the players and their coaches from both teams were honored at a banquet at which the principal speaker was Bishop Joseph A. Durick, auxiliary Bishop of Mobile.

Other dignitaries attending the banquet were Most Rev. Archbishop T. J. Toolen, Birmingham Commissioner Wade Bradley and officials of the Toy Bowl Association.

On their return Monday the Tiny Rocks sported fine letters T, with Toy Bowl and 1955 on them and a fine trophy to add to the many others in the Stanislaus trophy case.
